Children's Orthopaedic and Scoliosis Surgery Associates (COSSA), specializing in pediatric orthopaedics, has been known for their stellar reputation in the Tampa Bay area for 17 years. All of the doctors are board certified and have completed a fellowship in pediatric orthopaedic surgery. Each physician has outstanding credentials and has maintained the highest standards. The entire group has been elected by their peers for inclusion in "Best Doctors in America" 2005. COSSA's offices are located in St. Petersburg and Tampa, with a satellite clinic in Sarasota.

Dr. Love has been named in "Best Doctors in America" since 1996. She has also been listed in America's Top Surgeons since 2002, including being named again in 2005. She is an Affiliate Professor at USF, School of Medicine, Department of Pediatrics; and an Affiliate Assistant Professor in the Department of Surgery. Her participation with the USF programs began in 1986 while a clinical fellow in pediatric orthopaedic surgery. She received both her medical degree and orthopaedic residency training from Northwestern University School of Medicine. Dr. Love completed two pediatric orthopaedic fellowships at the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children in Tampa. She has been the Program Director for Pediatric Orthopaedics at All Children's Hospital since 1988. She is an active member of the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons, the Florida Orthopaedic Society, and the Pediatric Orthopaedic Society of North America.

Jeffrey B. Neustadt, M.D. has been selected for "Best Doctors in America" since 1996. He is an Affiliate Associate Professor of Pediatrics and Surgery at USF, School of Medicine, since 1991. He received his medical degree from the Emory University School of Medicine. His orthopaedic residency training was at Jackson Memorial Medical Center in Miami, Florida. He did a pediatric orthopaedic and scoliosis surgery fellowship at Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Children. Before coming to St. Petersburg, Dr Neustadt was an instructor at Georgetown University in orthopaedic surgery in 1990 and 1991. He was an oral examiner for the American Board of Orthopedic Surgery (ABOS) in 2004 and again in 2005. He actively participates in the Scoliosis Research Society, and is currently conducting research projects for scoliosis. He is an active member of the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgery and the Florida Orthopaedic Society. His memberships also include the Pediatric Orthopaedic Society of North America.

Scott W. Beck, M.D. has been named continuously in "Best Doctors in America" since 2003. He has been an Affiliate Associate Professor at USF, School of Medicine, Department of Surgery since 1998. Dr. Beck received his medical degree from the University of Utah. After finishing his surgery internship at UC San Francisco, he went on to complete a residency in orthopaedic surgery from Creighton-Nebraska Universities Health Foundation in Omaha. Dr. Beck's pediatric orthopaedic fellowship was done at UCSD and Children's Hospital San Diego. He is an active member of the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons and the Pediatric Orthopaedic Society of North America.

Gregory V. Hahn, M.D. has been selected for the honor of Best "Doctors in America" since 2003. He is an Affiliate Associate Professor at USF School of Medicine, Department of Surgery, and is currently the Chairman of the Division of Orthopaedic Surgery at All Children's Hospital in St. Petersburg, Florida. He received a B.A. from the University of Virginia and his medical degree from the University of Pennsylvania. He stayed at the University of Pennsylvania for his orthopaedic residency training and completed his pediatric orthopaedic fellowship at San Diego Children's Hospital. He is an active member of the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons, the Florida Orthopaedic Society, and the Pediatric Orthopaedic Society of North America and his special interest is scoliosis.
